

CCSNH and the CCSNH Board of Trustees have identified the adoption of no-cost and low-cost educational resources (NoLo), including Open Educational Resources (OER), as a system-wide priority. The advantages of increased use of NoLo resources include lower course material costs for students, enhanced attainment of learning outcomes, improved student access to learning materials, and greater flexibility for instructors to customize learning materials. For more information about OER at NCC, please contact Library Director Fran Keenan or visit the library website.
